

Clay Lab For Kids: 52 Projects To Make Model And Mold With Air Dry Polymer And Homemade Clay

Air dry polymer clay and homemade clay are two versatile materials that can be used to create a wide variety of models and molds. Air dry polymer clay is a type of clay that hardens when exposed to air, making it ideal for projects that need to be completed quickly. Homemade clay, on the other hand, is a type of clay that is made from natural ingredients, such as flour and water. It is a more affordable option than air dry polymer clay, but it takes longer to dry.

In this article, we will show you 52 projects that you can make with air dry polymer clay and homemade clay. These projects are perfect for all skill levels, from beginners to experienced crafters.
