When the days seem long and the nights are cold, And the world outside seems harsh and old, Remember that you are not alone, For within you lies a tiny soul.

A soul that is pure and innocent, A soul that is full of love and hope, A soul that is waiting to be born, Into a world that is waiting to adore.

So take comfort in knowing that you are not alone, And that your unborn child is always with you, Waiting to share your joys and sorrows, And to fill your life with love.

Hello in there, little one, Can you hear me? I'm so excited to meet you, I can't wait to hold you in my arms.

I know you're growing and changing every day, And I'm so proud of you. You're going to be a beautiful, amazing person, And I can't wait to watch you grow.

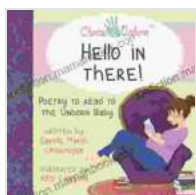

I love you more than words can say, And I can't wait to meet you. Hello in there, little one, I'm waiting for you.

John Prine

This poem is a beautiful and touching way to express the love and anticipation of a new life. It is a reminder that we are never truly alone, and that our unborn children are always with us, waiting to share our joys and sorrows. If you are an expectant mother, or if you know someone who is, please share this poem with them. It is sure to bring comfort and joy.
